

To whom it may concern,I am concerned with the NAB's attempt at blocking XM satellite radio from transmitting crucial information (local traffic and weather) to it's subscribers like myself. I subscribe to XM because the majority of FM and AM broadcasting has become boring, redundant, unimaginative and generally poor in quality.

Do not penalize XM for providing a superior product. Instead, set broadcast radio's standards higher so they can compete on an even playing field. Like the saying goes: If you build a better mousetrap....

Thank you,
